

Settlement delayed due to issue at the depository [Resolved]

Update: The issue has been resolved by the depository, and the holdings have been updated correctly.

Due to a network connectivity issue at the depository, shares bought on Tuesday have not yet been settled across all brokers. As a result, these shares are still marked as T1 holdings. You may sell them, however, you will not receive credit of such sale until Friday, February 6. Such sale will also carry risk of short delivery.
